LEGISLATURE from Page One

on the measure.
Sen. Milt Earmhart of Fort Smith said he turned down an invitation to introduce the bill, although, he said, he could support it.
The bill would legalize mixed drinks in private clubs and permit the sale of mixed drinks in hotels, motels and restaurants on a local option basis. Little Rock and Hot Springs also would be permitted to legalize permits in lounges. The bill also provides for heavy taxes on mixed drinks.
Ricketts said Wednesday that he remained optimistic about pushing his tax program through the special session despite the rejection of his real estate transfer tax bill by a House committee. The committee gave the bill a "do not pass" recommendation and the House later attached four amendments to it, which amounted to a death blow.
The bill was considered the tamer of the governor's tax proposals. It was designed to help the penitentiary out of its financial troubles by producing an estimated $400,000 annually, which would have been earmarked for the prisons.
Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith confessed that if the governor's tamer tax measure was dead, the administration would have trouble getting any of its tax legislation through this special session.
Nowotny later introduced another real estate transfer tax bill that earmarked only 50 percent of the tax revenue for the prisons and the rest for general revenues. It also was met with hostility in the House. By a vote of 36 for to 44 against, the House refused to suspend the rules for a routine second reading.
Sens. Clarence Bell of Parkin and W. K. Ingram of West Memphis introduced a real estate transfer tax bill in the Senate. It provided for proceeds to be divided between the state Publicity and Parks Commission and the Board of Correction.
The governor, who has been under scorching criticism since the session began Monday, was injected into a debate in the House on an amendment to a bill pertaining to the possession

Firms Must Disclose Interest

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Johnson a major consumer protection bill requiring disclosure of the annual cost of interest on most loans and credit purchases.
"I am overjoyed that the truth-in-lending bill so ardently sponsored by President Johnson has passed both houses," said Betty Furness, the President's adviser on consumer affairs.
"It is indeed a victory for the consumer who at last can shop as wisely for credit as for merchandise," Miss Furness added Wednesday.
The far-reaching measure, a highly controversial subject on Capitol Hill for eight years, was broadened just before enactment to include besides credit disclosure:
— The first federal limitation on the amount of a worker's wages that can be garnished—ordered withheld for payment of

All Interstate Roads to Be Contracted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Armit Taylor of Clarksville, chairman of the state Highway Commission, said Wednesday that the entire interstate system in Arkansas will be under contract by the end of next year, with the exception of two bridges.
There are 520 miles of interstate in Arkansas.
Taylor said the uncertainty of finances would delay the final contracting of the Interstate 40-55 bridge across the Mississippi River at West Memphis and the Interstate 430 bridge across the Arkansas River in western Little Rock.

of alcoholic beverages.
Rep. Herbert Rule of Little Rock took the floor to speak against the amendment, but instead said he wanted the representatives to hear some facts on alcoholism published in a national magazine.
While Rule was reading about the three stages of alcoholism, Rep. J. B. Smith of Marianna arose on a point of personal privilege and said: "Mr. Rule is talking about my governor."
The House roared. When the laughter subsided, House Speaker Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock said, "Your point is well taken." This drew another outburst of laughter.
In other action Wednesday, the House:
— Passed 95-0 a bill requiring that seven AIDC members be present for the disposition of business. It also removed a provision preventing industry created under the 1955 act from using borrowed funds for the purchases of equipment, and it increased the maximum interest rate from 6 to 8 per cent and increased the loan limit from 75 to 80 per cent.
— Passed two Senate bills, one appropriating $45,000 for special session expenses and one providing improvements and debt financing for the War Memorial Stadium Commission.
The Senate passed a bill appropriating $67,200 for House expenses in the session.
Bills introduced Wednesday were:
— A bill to give the state Racing Commission additional investigative powers with regard to the dog racing track at West Memphis.
— A bill to reimburse school districts for legal expenses incurred fighting desegregation.
— A bill to allow the judge, rather than the jury, to fix the sentence in noncapital criminal cases.
— A bill to provide for presentence investigations to be done by the Department of Correction at the request of circuit judges.
— A bill to set up a state probation system in which circuit judges could use probation officers of the Department of Correction.
— A bill for five fund transfers in the Revenue Stabilization Act to meet existing financial needs of the public schools, colleges and universities and the state Welfare Department.
— A bill to permit the state to use unclaimed property left with banks, other financial institutions, utilities and corporations.
— A bill to create a penal institution for first offenders under 21 convicted of a felony.
— A bill to earmark $500,000 of the governor's contingency fund for increased payments to nursing homes caring for welfare patients.

California Plane Down, 23 Killed

By J. RODMAN PAUL

PARAMOUNT, Calif. (AP) — A commercial helicopter ferrying 23 persons from Disneyland broke apart and crashed in flames Wednesday halfway through its 32-mile flight to Los Angeles International Airport.
The bodies of all 23 persons were found in or near the wreckage on a dairy farm.
The cause of the crash was listed tentatively as rotor failure after witnesses reported seeing a rotor blade spin off the craft.
Witnesses said they heard a loud pop before the twin-rotor Sikorsky S61 plunged to earth. Two large sections landed a few feet apart and dozens of smaller pieces scattered over the two-block farm.
Most of the passengers' bodies were still strapped in seats.
The possibility of a collision was suggested by Los Angeles Airways, owner of the helicopter service. But William Byerly of the Federal Aviation Agency said investigators had no evidence of it.
Officials worked through the night Wednesday securing the wreckage and recovering and identifying the bodies.

Identifying the dead was laborious, with only sketchy information available, but it was reported the list included persons from throughout the United States.
The crash was the first fatality in the helicopter firm's 21-year history. The S61 carries a crew of three.
As the craft, which normally would have been cruising at 2,000 feet, plunged, mail bags spilled into the air, giving the impression of falling bodies.
Sacks struck roofs of houses and businesses, and sheriff's helicopters searched rooftop to rooftop.
The rotor blade which spun off crashed through the corrugated sheet metal roof of a chair manufacturing plant, injuring no one.

State Job Corps Youth Killed

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)— An 18-year-old Arkansas youth was killed Wednesday when a construction vehicle he was operating at a Job Corps Center near here slid off the road and overturned.
Killed was Julius L. Jones of Hughes (St. Francis County). Jones was driving a front end loader and two other persons were injured, authorities said.

Wiretap Issue Retained in Crime Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 44 to 37 today to retain in the pending anti-crime bill a provision authorizing emergency wiretaps up to 48 hours without a court order.
Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who moved to strike the authorization, said it would "tempt even the most disciplined of policemen to do a little tapping on one may ever know about."

But Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., floor manager for the far-reaching crime legislation, said the amendment would "weaken the opportunity to get the most effective results possible" from provisions to allow wiretapping in the investigation or prevention of major crimes.
A Senate-House battle over final terms of the bill appeared to be brewing, with Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., saying he would never accept Senate-passed provisions which would weaken Supreme Court restrictions on use as evidence of some confessions and police line-up identifications.

SENIOR GIRLS AT CHURCH HONORED

Mrs. Ray Lawrence entertained with a morning party at her home May 21 for the senior girls at the First Baptist Church. Red roses decorated the living room, and red carnations were used on the dining table with paper-mache dolls in graduation gowns.

An assortment of canapes and fruit balls were served with cold drinks, and Mrs. Jon Leim assisted in the dining room courtesies. The 12 senior girls attending each received a gift from the hostess.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

A local Tuesday Bridge Club met with Mrs. Lloyd Spencer on May 21, and the home had roses and magnolias in pretty arrangements. The two tables of players included two club guests, Mrs. Thomas Hays and Mrs. Bill Wray.

High Scorer for the afternoon was Mrs. R. L. Broach, and second high was Mrs. Syd McMath. The hostess served strawberries in meringue shells with coffee.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETS

The Cosmopolitan Club closed out its club year with a dinner meeting Tuesday, May 21 at the Heritage House. Hostesses, Mrs. Thomas Hays, Mrs. Thomas Hays, Jr., Mrs. R. L. Broach and Mrs. R. E. Jackson, had decorated the place of meeting with roses and magnolias.

On the serving table Majestic daisies and white lilies were seen and placed on the table runners were dolls from Korea and Taiwan which Capt. Edwin Jackson, son of one of the hostesses, had obtained while stationed in the Far East. A Chinese fisherman and a bowl of fruit, all carved of wood, graced the buffet.

With each of the place cards for 19 members and 1 guest, Mrs. Bill Tolleson, was a sewing kit and a book of note pads. Mrs. Everette Vinson offered the invocation before the meal was served.

During a business meeting which followed, the new president, Mrs. H. L. Hanagan, named her committees for the next club year. Then, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. presented a delightful review of "A Hat on the Hall Table" by Jean Reynolds Davis. The YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

WHEN IS IT FINKING AND WHEN IS IT NECESSARY?

Dear Helen: Yoy said to "leave it lay" when a girl

"passed the butt," getting the girl she passed it to in trouble for smoking. In other words, don't fink.

But a while back you said if a guy had knowledge that friends were breaking the law, he'd better let somebody know.

Have you changed your tune, or something?—ANOTHER GUY

Dear Guy: Not really. When you tell, just to get someone in trouble—or to get yourself out of it—you're a fink. But if you are truly concerned for the safety or the future of the individual, then you'd feel guilty if you didn't inform those who can help.

There's a fine line here, and many stay on the safe side, not from honor but because they'd rather not get involved. . . . Which for my money in contributing to a crime.

See what I mean?—H.

Dear Helen: The problem is a wedding. The situation is satisfying myself, and my divorced and embittered parents. The divorce occurred four years ago and my father married soon afterward. My mother remains alone. I am her only son.

She will tolerate my father at my wedding, but she says if my stepmother comes, she will stay home. Naturally, Dad and his relatives will have almost no part in the ceremony. This hurts both him and me.

I realize the father of the bride-groom doesn't usually give a reception, but would it be all right in this case if he and my step-mother had a second reception for us at his home?—BAFFLED BRIDEGROOM

Dear B.B.: How about saving your father's reception for after the honeymoon? I think you'd enjoy it more, and your mother would resent it less.—H.

Dear Helen: I read with interest the letter from an 18-year-old who wanted the vote. It reminded me of another guy of 18, who felt the same way four years ago: Myself.

I found out, through experience, that just having the vote does not give a person a very loud voice in running the country.

If this fellow is really interested, why doesn't he decide which party he wants to support, then join the youth group which supports that party. Almost all cities have them.

Four years ago I joined the Young Republican League. At present I am serving as Second Congressional District YRL

chairman. I'm automatic delegate to the State convention.

Since I became active in politics, even though I couldn't vote

then, I have been able to meet governors, Senators, Congressmen, State legislators, mayors, and others who make decisions that effect all of us. What's more surprising, they listen to your views, and sometimes they even take your advice.

Less than five per cent of the American people are active in politics, Helen. If all the interested young people really got involved, then asked for the right to vote—they'd get it!—YOUNG

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a great night for gags about sawing people in half.

On NBC's "Summer Music Hall" Wednesday night, impressionist John Byner, for once omitting his imitation of George

Jessel, did the bit as part of a solo comedy routine. An hour later on CBS' "Dom DeLuise Show," the show's star played an inept magician attempting the same trick.

Neither comedy bit worked very well. But one really shouldn't complain—it's rare on television these nights when the viewer can find two new programs in a row.

It would be pleasant if the

"Dom DeLuise Show" were a little better—the jokes are pretty old and pretty awful, but Dom tries so hard that he deserves something better.

The "Summer Music Hall,"

on the other hand, is an economy-

size version of the more opulent, star-studded winter

show. And if the Wednesday night program with Eddy Arnold as host is a fair sample, it is a pleasant, relaxed and tune-ful hour.

The emphasis is on music. The sets, while not lavish, are gay and colorful, and the whole mood, generally, is light. Arnold, who for more than 20 years has built a big reputation as a country music specialist, is an urbane, well-dressed fellow with a fine voice and an easy way with songs of all type.

His records had sold more than 50 million copies by last January. He is a big attraction at state fairs and much in demand for college concerts, unusual for any performer beyond his 40th birthday.

A Tennessee sharecropper's son, Arnold grew up singing blues and mountain music, accompanying himself on the guitar. Today he is a rich man with

Jesuit Priest Ordered to Leave India

By R. SATAKOPAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Jesuit priest who piloted an agricultural revolution in 700 villages near Bombay is under orders to leave India.

The Rev. Vincent Ferrer, 47, came here from Spain 12 years ago, and vowed to devote his life to the betterment of the lot of India's common man.

"One 'heart-rending incident' made him choose the spot which was to be the center of his work. At lunch in a roadside restaurant near Manmad, 15 miles northeast of Bombay, he saw a man trying to eat crumbs spilled by the priest.

He immediately set to work in nearly 700 barren villages of Manmad district.

He started a Farmers' Service Society which now has a 100-member staff.

In two years, he organized free self-help labor to dig 1,073 wells and had 782 pumps installed. The landscape changed into a green belt of fertile fields. He organized a fertilizer cooperative which distributed 4,562 tons of fertilizers. He gave 413 oxen to needy farmers. The crop yield increased tenfold.

He appealed for donations and collected $1 million in three years from institutions in Western Europe. He gave loans to farmers at very low interest, repayable in easy installments.

Many villagers worshiped him and called him a saint.

All this has been his undoing, Father Ferrer feels.

The Maharashtra government served him with a notice to quit India by April 26. The only reason given was that he was indulging "in prejudicial activities."

Agitated villagers protested and demonstrated. Right-wing Swatantra party members took up his cause in Parliament and conferred with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Father Ferrer came here to see India's top leaders and demanded an impartial inquiry. The central government had his expulsion order postponed by two months—until June 26. But his fate still hangs in the balance.

Ultrationalists objected to such activity by a foreign missionary. Father Ferrer countered this sentiment by applying for Indian citizenship in February.

Local moneylenders who had been thriving on the misery of the farmers saw business slip through their fingers, and protested against the priest, Hindu and Moslem religious enthusiasts said he was out to convert the farmers to Christianity. They even said that 3,000 had been converted during the past five years.

The soft-spoken, bearded Spaniard seems little perturbed about the agitation raging around him.

"God fulfills himself in many ways, and whatever He does is for the best," he comments. "I came to serve India. India lives in its villages. I came here to serve, not to get angry. The world is full of misunderstandings. Was not the Lord Himself crucified on the cross?"

Epstein Goes Back to the Minors

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Epstein, the big first baseman who boycotted baseball when Baltimore tried to demote him last year, is back in the minors today.

Epstein, batting .099, was shuffled off to Buffalo Wednesday by the Washington Senators, who had acquired him in a trade with Baltimore last May after he refused to report to another International League club. He went quietly this time.

"It hurts me inside very much," Epstein said as he stood in street clothes in front of his clubhouse locker. But he promised to go to Buffalo and try to play his way back.

Manager Jim Lemon predicted he would. "He's going to hit," Lemon said. "It's just a matter of time."

Epstein has been slowed by an elbow injury suffered in pre-season play.

In 91 at bats, he struck out 26 times, had only one homer, and batted in just one other run. That came Tuesday night against the Yankees, but twice he also watched wild strikes that stranded a total of four baserunners in a one-run loss.

Credit Probe Mistakes Are Investigated

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate antitrust investigators are quietly examining credit reporting agencies to find out if federal laws are needed to protect ordinary citizens against agency mistakes that can ruin a person's credit rating.

The antitrust and monopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., plans early summer public hearings on evidence gathered by its investigators over the past several months.

"People are frightened," said a subcommittee investigator. "With the volume of credit multiplying, and increasing reliance on credit reporting bodies, we must see if credit reports are as fair and accurate as they should be."

The customer who buys merchandise on credit in essence asks the merchant to approve his credit rating. The credit manager likely asks his local credit bureau what its centralized records show about the person's bill-paying habits. He may also question a credit bureau in the customer's former hometown.

A man looking for an insurance policy or a job may have credit agency checks run on him that involve not only his credit but other details of his personal life.

The price of a report is cheap. For 4 to 9 cents, the credit grantor can see if his potential customer is on a nationwide list of bad risks.

For $25, an insurance company can get a rundown on credit, personal habits and other details of an individual's life which may be based on 2 to 10 interviews of his friends and associates.

A House subcommittee on privacy has been quizzing credit reporting agency officials for several months in attempting to determine whether their activities constitute an invasion of privacy.

Hart doesn't raise that question. The senator assumes as fact that information on a person's finances must be available in today's credit card society. His investigation is aimed at finding out whether legal safeguards are needed.

An investigator for Hart's subcommittee said it has received scores of complaints from persons who claim to have been victimized by credit reporting snafus, and hopes to get more before hearings begin.

Among examples in the subcommittee files is this complaint:

A middle-income man from a Southern state told investigators that his new automobile had so many defects that the manufacturer's credit financing division finally agreed to take back the car and require no further payments.

About this time the man was hired for a better job. But he lost the job when his credit record turned up with a blot on it. It turned out that the auto firm had listed the return of the defective car as a repossession — and wouldn't change the records.

The man's new employer said "right or wrong, I can't be bothered," and fired him, the subcommittee investigator said.

The Credit Disclose Law at-a-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are key provisions of a credit disclosure bill passed by Congress Wednesday:

— Stores extending credit, and financial institutions lending money, must disclose annual interest rate figured on declining balance of obligation and total cost of the credit in dollars and cents over full life of the credit.

Exempted are first mortgages on homes, purchases of $75 or less when credit charges don't exceed $5 and purchases of more than $75 when credit charges don't exceed $7.50.

— Stores offering open-end or revolving credit plans must state full annual rate plus monthly rate.

— Homeowners contracting for home improvements financed by first or second mortgages have three days to cancel the deal.

— Stores advertising installment loans must give annual interest rate, cash price, number of payments and their due dates.

— When a customer's pay is attached or garnished, the first $48 of pay is exempt, as is 75 per cent of all take-home pay. No employee could be fired for a single garnishment.

— Effective dates: For credit disclosure section, July 1, 1969;

Boy Can Be President But He Better Have $5 Million to Spare

LONDON (AP) — A British newspaper Economist discuss-correspondent says the American "dream-saying" that any little boy can grow up to be president should go on to say: "Always provided he happens to have about $5 million to spare."

Back in England from covering the American presidential campaign, John Edwards wrote in the London Daily Sketch: "Is cash more important than the candidate?"

"With certain reservations, the answer is 'yes.'"

"The sheer weight of a candidate's expense account can wipe out the opposition and win the party nomination."

Henry Brandon, Washington correspondent of the Sunday Times of London. That "normally the American electorate would ask itself the simple question: 'Who would make the best president?'"

"But this year there is much evidence that, consciously or unconsciously, it is trying to resolve a more complicated question: 'Do we need a conciliator or an innovator?'"

"The answer," Brandon said, "is complicated by the fact that it is not only a matter of the policies a candidate advocates, but also his personality."

An Associated Press sampling of foreign commentary on the United States found the British

Became Victim, Not the Master

NEW YORK (AP) — Melvyn Green, a Columbia University graduate student doing a thesis on narcotics, became so enmeshed with his subject that he became its "victim and not the master," a judge says.

Green, of Ottawa, Ont., was given a two-year suspended sentence Tuesday by Judge Edmund L. Palmieri in U.S. District Court after the defendant pleaded guilty of possessing 18 pounds of marijuana.

Federal narcotics agents tracked down Green after a package for him containing the marijuana broke open in a Los Angeles post office.

Hope Downs Tyronza in Tournament

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Hope, Fort Smith St. Anne's, Arkadelphia and Junction City advanced into the semifinals of the state high school baseball tournament here Wednesday.

Hope will play St. Anne's at 1 p.m. today in the semifinals, and the Arkadelphia-Junction City game will follow.

In Wednesday's games, Hope blanked Tyronza 4-0. St. Anne's topped Greene County Tech 5-4. Arkadelphia beat Greenwood 10-6 in nine innings and Junction City walloped Gillett 10-0 in a game called in the fifth inning on the 10-run rule.

Dwight Galloway, who tossed a no-hitter in the tournament Monday, twirled a five-hitter Wednesday as Hope downed Tyronza. Hope blew the game open in the sixth with a three-run outburst.

Tyronza had scoring opportunities in the fourth and sixth innings, but each time Galloway pitched his way out of the jams.

St. Anne's used a four-run uprising in the first inning and then choked off a Greene County Tech rally in the sixth to gain its victory.

All of Tech's runs came on a grand-slam home run by Larry Windery. Mike Sondergerger belted a two-run triple in St. Anne's big first inning.

Steve Megless walked eight and fanned 11 to get the victory for St. Anne's. Thomas Jones absorbed the loss for Tech.

Junction City worked over three Gillett pitchers before the game was halted under the 10-run, fifth-inning rule.

Bruce Stringer drove in four runs with a triple, double and a single, and Ronnie Hall checked Gillett on just two hits to receive credit for the victory. Johnny Holloway started for Gillett and was charged with the loss.

Greenwood pushed across two runs in the bottom of the seventh to force Arkadelphia into extra innings.

Arkadelphia exploded for four runs in the ninth to put it away. Ricky Graham had a triple and Allan Gaither a double for Arkadelphia. Charles Gordon collected a double and triple and his brother, Rich, had a double for Greenwood.

Larry Manning was the winning pitcher and Jim McGehee was the loser.

Chisox Lose to Senators; Orioles Win

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Epstein got a red carpet reception when he arrived in Washington via the trade route from Baltimore. Frank Bertina and Sam Bowens made the same trip... and got little more than a change of uniform.

Wednesday night, the Senators shuffled Epstein off to Buffalo, then turned Bertina and Bowens loose against the Chicago White Sox.

The result: A 2-0 victory that snapped Washington's losing streak at four games and took the Senators out of sole possession of the American League basement.

Bertina, a stocky southpaw pitcher acquired from Baltimore in the Epstein deal last May, blanked the White Sox on two hits until the ninth inning, when he need relief help from Dave Baldwin.

Bowens, purchased from the Orioles on a conditional basis last winter, took care of the Senators' attack by clouting a two-run sixth inning homer off Gary Peters.

Elsewhere, Baltimore nipped New York 4-3 on a two-run ninth inning homer by pinch hitter Don Buford. Minnesota edged Detroit 4-3 on Harmon Killebrew's run-scoring single in the eighth. Oakland blanked Cleveland 2-0 behind right-hander Jim Nash and Boston trimmed California 4-0 on Gary Bell's four-hitter.

In National League action, Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 2-0. Houston edged Cincinnati 1-0. Philadelphia whipped New York 8-0. San Francisco outlasted Atlanta 2-1 and Pittsburgh destroyed Chicago 13-6.

In the American League, Washington blanked Chicago 2-0. Baltimore edged New York 4-3. Minnesota topped Detroit 4-3. Oakland beat Cleveland 2-0 and Boston downed California 4-0.

Through the seventh, the Dodgers managed only one hit off Bob Gibson, but it was a good one: Wes Parker's run-scoring double in the third.

Drysdale stopped the Cards, who have now lost five of their last six games, on five hits. He hasn't allowed a run in his last 29 innings.

Dave Glusti also had a date with the record book wrecked. He was working on a no-hitter when Pete Rose got the first Cincinnati hit off him with two out in the eighth inning. Glusti finished with a two-hitter. Rusty Staub drove in the only run with a single in the sixth.

Richie Allen blasted two long two-run homers in the Phillies' victory over the Mets as Woody Fryman hurled a three-hitter. Tony Gonzalez also homered for the Phils.

The Giants moved into a virtual tie for first place with the Cardinals with their triumph, which came when Willie Mays broke out of an 0-for-12 slump with a run-scoring single in the ninth. Mike McCormick, who allowed three hits, was the winner.

Willie Stargell came up with the hitting performance of the season, blasting three home runs, a double and a single and driving in seven runs for the Pirates. The double missed being a homer by inches, bouncing high off the left field railing in Chicago.

Willie Mays Frolicking Like a Rookie

By RON SPEER

Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Willie Mays has been frolicking in the outfield like a rookie for San Francisco this week, and the 37-year-old slugger says he doesn't even think about getting older.

"I don't worry about that," Mays said after pushing the Giants into a virtual tie for the National League's lead with St. Louis. "That's what I read—but that's not what I say."

"I'll get a couple of more years in, you can count on that," added Mays, whose bat has been listless lately but his fielding has been as flashy as ever.

Mays snapped out of an 0-for-12 slump Wednesday night with a game-winning single in the ninth inning that drove in Ron Hunt for a 2-1 conquest of the Atlanta Braves.

But throughout the series with the Braves Mays has sparked in the field, and a running, one-handed catch of a Hank Aaron drive in the fourth inning helped San Francisco pitcher Mike McCormick post a three-hitter.

Mays was pleased with his winning single, although he pointed out that it was the only hit he got.

"But it meant the game, so I don't care how many I got," he said.

The ninth-inning single marked the eighth time this year that Mays was credited with the game-winning hit. He now has a .283 batting average with 21 runs batted in and 7 homers.

Iowa Negro Athletes Want Control

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Negro athletes at Iowa State University have demanded that basketball Coach Glen Anderson, baseball Coach Cap Timm and trainer Bob Billings be fired "unless they have a change of attitude," the Des Moines Register said today.

The firing demands were made in a list of grievances presented to the ISU Athletic Council earlier this week, the paper said.

The council took no immediate action, but is expected to consider the two pages of complaints at a meeting June 5.

The athletes, member of a group known as the Black Students Organization, said they will boycott all athletic teams and forfeit their scholarships if the demands are not granted.

Bruce Ellis, a non-athlete from New York, heads the organization, and Willie Muldrew, All-Big Eight lineman from Chicago, is vice president.

Neither Negro organization leaders nor the school officials would reveal the complaints.

But, the Register said it learned in addition to the firing demands, other grievances include:

— The athletes want a Negro head coach or assistant in at least one major sport. (There are no Negro members of the coaching staff at present.)

— They want line-ups in every sport to be chosen on the basis of ability, not a "black-white quota."

— They want to be called either Afro-Americans or blacks, not Negroes.

Iowa State is the fifth Big Eight Conference school to experience protests from Negro athletes this spring. Others are Kansas, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Colorado.

Don Drysdale was walking out of the dugout to pitch to the Cardinals in the bottom of the third.

The Dodgers had just scored a run in the top of the third on a walk to Paul Popovich and Wes Parker's double.

"Somebody told me in the dugout, 'Okay, there's your lead — now hold it,'" Drysdale grinned.

"You've got to be kidding," Drysdale laughed. "Don't take that stuff seriously."

That stuff was the three 1-0 victories Drysdale has pitched this year. That was the extent of his victories until he beat the Cardinals for his seventh decision.

"I haven't been complaining," Drysdale said as he contemplated these 1-0 scores, "as long as they get one more run than the other team."

Harness Race
Horses Must Undergo Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Entries in the Little Brown Jug harness racing classic for 3-year-olds standardbreds will be required to undergo pre-race blood tests.

"We don't want the same thing to happen here that happened in the Kentucky Derby," said Henry C. Thomson, president of the Little Brown Jug Society which sponsors the annual fall classic at nearby Delaware.

This year's race is scheduled for Sept. 19.

In this year's Kentucky Derby, Dancer's Image won but was then placed last after a post-race urinalysis revealed the horse had received an illegal medication of a drug.

Thomson said if the blood test shows a horse has received a drug, "it will be scratched from the race. The public will not be hurt. There will be no false payoffs and no damage."

A blood test, he said, "is more complete than a urinalysis test. It shows everything."

Hubert Brings Countryside Right to Him

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a first in jet-age campaigning—and first class all the way. Instead of going into the countryside, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey brought the countryside to him, a new chapter in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Using two planes, Humphrey airlifted 162 Delaware delegates, Democratic officials, wives and so on from Wilmington to a reception in Washington's Mayflower Hotel.

He winced and dined them in an atmosphere of candlelight and music, had singer Nancy Sinatra and basketball star Elvin Hayes around to sign autographs—and made one of his shortest speeches of record, 14 minutes.

This was not a case of just wooing delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Humphrey won 16 of the Delaware Democrats' 22 delegates votes at the party's recent state convention.

It was more a case of keeping those wooed and won from flitting with Humphrey rivals—particularly Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. And maybe winning some more.

Humphrey called it a "thank you" party. "You've had your convention. You've made your decision, and we don't have to argue about that," he told his transplanted guests.

The delegate airlift is "part of the tone of the campaign," explained a Humphrey aide. "It shows strength. It shows adequate financing. If we did this for every state in the union, it would still be cheaper than what Bobby spent in the Indiana primary."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said United Democrats for Humphrey, of which he is co-chairman, paid for the affair—and confided that since the Humphrey campaign jet is costing money even when on the ground "we might as well use it."

Aides called the Delaware airlift a pilot project that probably will be repeated with other state delegations, flying them here or, in some cases, bringing them to an outing with the vice president at his Minnesota home.

N.Y. Merchants File Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — There have been 27 claims against the city of New York, totaling $2,019,865, filed by store owners in Harlem and Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section because of alleged property damage in disorders after the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis April 14.

City Comptroller Mario A. Proccacio disclosed the figure Tuesday.

College Coed Wins Litter Prize

By DON HARRISON
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Living in a creaky 1949 model station wagon Cherif Gordon, a 21-year-old college coed, says she keeps expenses down.

"Every night I look for a new parking place," says Miss Gordon, who calls her mobile home "Old Green Moose."

"I try to find a place where there are no bright lights, in some residential area under lots of shady trees. Sometimes you have to drive an hour to find one."

Although her father worries, Miss Gordon insists she is "perfectly safe." She is a junior majoring in physical education at Sacramento State College.

She explained Wednesday: "I usually study on the campus until after midnight, and there's never anyone on the streets when I park this Old Green Moose. I sleep in my gym clothes and at 6:30 every morning I just hop right into the front seat and I drive off."

Besides, Miss Gordon said, "the window panels are high and no one would ever suspect a girl is sleeping inside."

She showers every morning at the college gymnasium, and can even set her hair before an 8 a.m. class. She keeps her clothes in her gym locker, and "really it's all very convenient."

For cooking, Miss Gordon stows a Japanese grill amid her mattress, books and tennis racket in the cluttered rear portion of the car. A lounge chair is propped against the interior side of the vehicle.

"I can get along very nicely without much money," Miss Gordon said. "I spend about $35 a month—and most of that is for gas."

Miss Gordon's father, a retired Air Force sergeant, lives 45 miles away in Fairfield.

"My father is constantly saying I'm off my rocker. He says, 'You're nuts but you've got guts.' But he wants me to finish my education, and we just don't have enough money to do it another way," she said.

The Continental profile, a classic in its own time, meaningfully refined for 1968

Both the prestigious Sedan and the elegant Coupé for 1968 continue in the timeless tradition of Lincoln Continental design... honored as a definitive in its field. Still, you will find, in the 1968 Continentals, numerous refinements and improvements—wraparound parking lights and tail-lights, an all new instrument panel, new interiors, a smoother-shifting transmission, and a new, more formal roof line for the Coupé. Subtle refinements, to be sure, but each designed to make motoring in a Continental a uniquely pleasurable experience.

Again in 1968, each Lincoln Continental embraces virtually every luxury appointment you would expect in a motorcar of Continental's stature. Notwithstanding, Continental offers many desirable ultra-luxury options such as Tilt Steering Wheel, Automatic Speed Control and Six-way Power Seat.

Let us arrange a personal demonstration for you, during which you may become acquainted with the lasting pleasure and prestige awaiting you in the 1968 Lincoln Continental Sedan or Coupé.

Exec Manse Can Hold RFK's Kids

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Thomas Jefferson proclaimed it large enough to hold "two emperors, one Pope and the grand lama."

Abigail Adams had so much space that she hung clothes out to dry in the East Room.

But Calvin Coolidge found it necessary to add a floor for guest rooms and family storage. And Mrs. John F. Kennedy fretted over where to put an expected third child.

Would the White House hold a family of 13 that makes exuberant activity almost a fetish and collects animals like some people collect buttons or stamps?

If the winds of campaign fortune blow in Robert F. Kennedy's direction, will the first family have a housing problem?

Not likely. There are rooms in the little-discussed third floor added in Coolidge's administration that are seldom used as living quarters. Blair House across the street now serves as the President's official guest house.

Where sleeping room is concerned, the White House could easily hold a family as large as the Kennedys. It simply has never been put to the test.

Presidential families have traditionally quartered on the second floor, which means about as much space as a four- or five-bedroom home.

First floor is mostly ceremonial rooms used on state occasions, and hardly suitable for family living anyway, since several hundred tourists troop through daily. Below that level is the ground floor, with the diplomatic entrance and reception area, offices and work rooms.

Third floor, however, set back from the front and hidden from street view by the railing around the top, includes six bedrooms and three others that could easily be converted into bedrooms.

Also on the third floor is the solarium that has served in a variety of roles. For Eisenhower, it was a painting studio. It served as a school room for Caroline Kennedy and a teen-age rec room for Luci Baines Johnson.

Housing problems, it would appear, are the least of the concerns of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at this point.

"If the White House isn't big enough," he said at a recent news conference, "we'll move people out of the State Department."

Son Michael, 10, was quoted as saying recently: "We have been told that if daddy is elected president we can still go right on living here."

"Here" is Hickory Hill, the current Kennedy home in nearby McLean, Va., where life, by all accounts, is a showcase of 20-karat vitality. The touch football games in which everyone participates are already history.

There are also tennis courts, a swimming pool, stables, horse jumps and general free-lance adventuring, in which everyone takes part.

A neighbor, the story goes, once told of trying to catch Kennedy kids in the act of swinging from one of their tree branches onto his garage roof. Waiting inside the garage, he finally heard one small bump on the roof, then another—and then a large THUMP!

Rushing outside, he found himself looking up at two small Kennedys and an attorney general.

As for active youngsters, the White House has seen them before. Theodore Roosevelt's sons, Quentin and Archie, and their chums performed exploits that read like a L'il Rascals movie script.

They used Andrew Jackson's portrait for spitball target practice.

They held bicycle races on the ground-floor corridor, had water-gun fights in the East Room.

They turned on a south lawn fountain while workmen were repairing it; shot at an alley cat with homemade bows and arrows.

That with two youngsters and their friends, as compared with soon-to-be 11 little Kennedys.

Then there is the animal thing with the Kennedys. A recent census at Hickory Hill showed an animal population that included two horses, three ponies, a donkey, 10 ducks, five chickens, five rab-

COULD THE WHITE HOUSE HOLD THE KENNEDY CLAN? No problem as far as space goes—18 acres of lawn for romping and a potential 10 additional bedrooms on the little-used third floor of the mansion.

AND BABY WILL MAKE ELEVEN. Sen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy line up for an Easter picture this year with eight of their present 10 children. An addition is expected in January—along about inaugural day.

bits, four pigeons, several sparrows, a parakeet, a cockatoo, goldfish, some snakes and four dogs.

At last word, snake and goose quarters were hard to come by in the presidential manse. Even so, the White House has a long history of boarding pets.

Woodrow Wilson grazed sheep on the White House lawn during World War I, to free young workmen for duty on the fighting front. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge had two pet raccoons.

The Marquis de Lafayette, French hero of the American Revolution, boarded a gift alligator on the White House first floor during a return visit to the young nation several years later.

As for outdoor life, there are 18 acres on the White House grounds. More spacious than Hickory Hill but, as for privacy, about as comparable as Coney Island is to the African veldt.

Kennedy children romping on the south lawn would guarantee crowds of the curious gazing through the barred fence like Sunday afternoon at National Zoo.

"The senator is very protective about his children in that respect," said an RFK staff member. "He prefers to keep them out of the public eye."

Since keeping Kennedy children inside is unthinkable, it may be that an RFK administration would mean at least concurrent maintenance of nearby Hickory Hill, with horse-riding, football, fresh air and playtime out of the reach of public scrutiny.

And garage roofs to jump onto.

Says Public Misled About Peace Talks

By LEWIS M. GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A blue-ribbon citizens group including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower voiced fear today that many Americans have been misled into expecting "too much, too soon" from U.S.-North Vietnamese talks in Paris.

Americans think of negotiations as a road to peace but there is unmistakable evidence Hanoi's leaders consider negotiations as another way to fight a war, said a special panel of the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam.

It warned against expecting to "win at the conference table what we have not won on the battlefield" and against "losing at the conference table what we have fought so hard, and given so much, to protect."

While the group favored exploring for "a reasonable time" prospects for a peaceful settlement, it rated poor the chances for productive negotiations now.

The 1,700-word statement on "Negotiations: Hopes versus Realities" was issued by a 14-man special panel on negotiations.

The citizens committee was organized last fall by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and includes both living ex-presidents—Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman—in its nationally known membership of about 190.

It labels itself a nonpartisan group setting forth the views of the "silent center" of U.S. public opinion on Vietnam as distinguished from vocal critics of the right and left. Its past expressions have been generally favorable toward Johnson administration policy.

Film Shown in Trial of Dr. Spock

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — A television film shows a group of young men at the altar of a Boston church touching what were described as their draft cards to a lighted candle, and dropping them into a silver bowl.

In a dazed federal courtroom Wednesday, with organ music from the sound track filling the room, the government showed the film of the ceremony to the all male jury trying Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others charged with conspiracy to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

The prosecution says the ceremony at the Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church last Oct. 16 is one of the acts upon which the indictments against the defendants are based.

Spock was not present in the church when the cards were burned. The two defendants allegedly there were Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43, and Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard.

The film made by James Arnold, a cameraman for WBZ-TV of Boston, showed Dr. Coffin in clerical garb shaking hands with one of the youths who burned a card.

Ferber was shown delivering a speech during the ceremony entitled, "A Time to Say No," but his talk was not recorded.

Although Spock and the remaining two defendants, Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director, and Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer, were not present at the church, the government indictment claims the five were bound together in an illegal conspiracy and share responsibility for the ceremony.

Arnold appeared as a government witness and said under cross-examination by defense lawyers that he could not recall hearing Ferber or Dr. Coffin specifically urge the young men to burn their cards.

The defendants face five-year prison sentences and $10,000 fines if the jury should find them guilty.

Official of Alaska Shot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Ralph B. Williams, Alaska state bacteriologist may be released from a hospital within two weeks with five bullets in his head.

Dr. Dudley J. Fournier said Williams, beaten in a mugging and then shot as he lay unconscious on a street the night of May 12, is walking around his room "looking better and better."

Williams, 57, was unaware he was shot until he went to Fournier the next afternoon complaining of a nagging headache. X rays disclosed the bullets in his head.

Fournier earlier had said the bullets would be sealed off by healing of the wounds and that it would be better not to attempt surgery unless it was required.

Foster Gets Chance in Tiger Fight

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP) — "This is it. It's make or break. If I blow this I may never get another chance. I don't intend to blow it."

Bob Foster got it off his chest Wednesday as he rested on the training table, his long training grind over.

On Friday night, the 29-year-old ex-Air Force man and one-time bomb factory worker will get his first chance at a world title when he meets light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger at Madison Square Garden.

The 6-foot-3½ challenger from Washington, D.C., had just completed seven weeks of intensive training with some vigorous floor exercises and bag punching. He dried the sweat on his arms, heaved a deep sigh and said:

"It's all over. It's easy now." Did he expect to win in four or five rounds as he had predicted when he began training? "Yeah, he'll go the first time I get him. He can't change his style. He'll be coming out. I like them to fight that way. The fans will like it. He's a good fighter but so am I. Only I've been waiting a long time. They only pay off on champions. I want that title."

Foster's backers have guaranteed Tiger $100,000 for the shot. Foster will get 80 per cent of the net gate and pay Tiger out of his percentage. He may not make any money, and it may even cost him.

Winner of eight straight, Foster has a 29-4 record, including 23 knockouts.

Peyton Place Will Add a Negro Family

Negro players plug deodorants, mouthwash, toothpaste, salad oil, carbonated water, soft drinks, airlines, toys, beer, cigarettes, life insurance, cameras, etc.

The movies' first Negro feature director is Gordon Parks, author, composer and for 20 years a Life magazine photographer. He's filming tests before taking his cameras to Fort Scott, Kan., to film his autobiographical novel, "The Learning Tree," for Warner Bros. Seven Arts.

Parks credits studio head Ken Hyman with "a lot of guts for hiring me. He gave me the chance because he believes I can do it and not because I'm a Negro," Parks told the Hollywood Reporter.

Exclusive of actors, Universal Studio employs 393 Negroes, an increase of about 10 per cent over a year ago and nearly 10 per cent of its total employment — 4,200. Many are office workers.

Three years ago, Variety noted, the television industry "was truly surprised when NBC-TV and executive producer Sheldon Leonard cast Bill Cosby as co-star with Bob Culp in 'I Spy,' but today crossing television's color line is a common occurrence."

Three ABC-TV shows premiering this fall, "Land of the Giants," "The Outcasts" and "The Mod Squad," will have Negro regulars. At NBC, "I Spy" has been dropped, but Miss Carroll will start her series, "Julia," with a 6-year-old playing her son. Negroes continue on "Star Trek" and "Ironside." NBC has signed comedian Flip Wilson to what it calls a long-term contract.

Why the upsurge in Negro employment?

Says Lillian Cumber, the talent agent whose business has increased nearly 150 per cent: "Basically it's economics. Civil rights groups have been demanding that the industry use more Negroes and if it doesn't they're going to boycott certain products. Movies see that something is successful, and they follow the tide."

Bandit Had Strange Ankles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police seeking a description of a gunman who robbed a Miami loan company of $250 were told Tuesday that the bandit wore no socks and had white spots on his ankles.

Rap Brown Sentenced to 5 Years

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — H. Rap Brown was convicted Wednesday night of violating the National Firearms Act and was given the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Brown, 24, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was freed on bond pending appeal after the biracial jury returned its verdict in federal court.

Under terms of the $15,000 bond, Brown's travel was restricted to the Southern District of New York State.

The immediate sentencing by U.S. District Judge Lansing L. Mitchell was at the request of William M. Kunstler, of New York, chief defense attorney for the Black Power advocate.

Kunstler included a plea for leniency, describing the government case as an effort to "silence" Brown, a frequent and fiery speaker at civil rights rallies.

"It is time this persecution must stop and this is persecution of the most blatant sort!" cried Kunstler. "We recall that everything Adolf Hitler did was 'legal.'"

"The issue of black or white was only brought into this case by the defendant!" shouted U.S. Atty. Louis LaCour. "We deeply resent statements making such a comparison to Hitler."

Brown was convicted under a section of the act forbidding anyone under indictment on a felony charge to transport a gun across state lines.

The decision hinged on the issue of whether Brown knew he was under indictment in Maryland at the time he traveled from New York City to Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 16, 1967, with an M1 carbine in his luggage, then flew back to New York Aug. 18 carrying the same gun.

A Dorchester County, Md., grand jury returned the indictment Aug. 14 on charges of arson and inciting to riot, based on Brown's speech at a civil rights rally in Cambridge, Md.

Kunstler argued that Brown was not notified of the indictment, had not learned of it through newspaper stories or news broadcasts, and that therefore the gun charge was invalid.

LaCour said it was preposterous to say that neither Brown nor his lawyer, Kunstler, knew of the indictment, in view of news stories about the legal action.

Judge Mitchell had ruled, at the start of the trial, that any knowledge of the indictment was enough to sustain the gun charge. He instructed the jurors they should not convict unless they felt that the government proved Brown knew about the indictment.

SPRING SHOWERS

Maps show Weather Bureau's forecast of average temperature, precipitation through June 15.

Above normal temperatures are forecast in the Pacific Northwest as well as the Great Lakes region, northern New England and the east Gulf Coast.

EXPECTED PRECIPITATION

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the Central and Southern Plains, the middle Mississippi Valley and the Central Plateau region.

SHOCKING SHOW. called "Fastest Thumb in the West," is guaranteed to get a rise out of at least one of the contestants. Game calls for two youngsters to sit on cables which conduct a harmless but "shocking" voltage, causing the loser to "reach for the sky." With a simple push button in their hands, the two contestants keep their eyes glued to a red light on a pole in front of them. When the light flashes on, the competitors press the button as quickly as possible. The winner (fastest thumb) remains seated while the losers get the juice. Here are some losers' reactions.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Contraceptive Pills Will Not Shrink Fibroids

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Many readers have inquired about the possible side effects from taking hormones for birth control. First and most important, they do not cause leukemia or any other form of cancer but the Food and Drug Administration advises against their use by any woman who has had a cancer. In some women who are taking the pill polyps form on the uterine cervix and these have been mistaken for cancer. In answer to another query, the pill will not cause uterine fibroids to shrink.

The commonest side effects are nausea, tenderness in the breasts and a gain in weight due to the retention of fluids in the body. Before starting to use contraceptive pills, a woman should have a complete physical examination with special reference to the breasts and pelvic organs. A Pap smear and liver function tests.

In a few women the pill appears to aggravate migraine attacks. In a very small number of women who are taking the pill abnormal clotting within the blood vessels occurs. Although no direct cause and effect relationship between the pill and the clotting has been established evidence that such a relationship exists appears to be growing. For this reason these pills should not be taken by any woman who has any type of vascular disease, including high blood pressure.

Both loss of scalp hair and an increased growth of hair on the face have been reported in women who are taking the pill but there is no proof that the pill was responsible and it is hard to see how it could produce two such opposite effects.

On the plus side, the pills are credited with relieving menopausal symptoms, preventing osteoporosis (decalcification of bones) and reducing susceptibility to staphylococcal infections. They may, however, increase the susceptibility to infection with Candida albicans (leukorrhea).

Meanwhile, the acceptability of intrauterine contraceptive devices is increasing thanks to greater care in observing aseptic techniques and improved methods for their insertion. When properly used they are highly effective.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Strife Again Hits Columbia University

By TOM KELLY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Police cleared a building and arrested 131 demonstrators without incident at strife-torn Columbia University early today but in the hour before dawn the Ivy League campus erupted in blazing violence.

A thousand police stormed across the campus at 4:25 a.m. responding to a call by President Grayson Kirk to clear the area.

They were met head-on by a wave of students summoned to the fray by a call "To the barricades!"

A stone flew, striking a policeman in the face. He bled profusely. Police charged the students. Nightsticks flailed.

Early reports said at least 10 police and 50 students had been treated for injuries at campus first aid stations and two hospi-

als. The storm began building late Tuesday afternoon when several lawyers, about 20 parents and 200 students entered Hamilton Hall to protest disciplinary action against Mark Rudd, the radical campus leader of Students for a Democratic Society, and three of his associates.

There are about 25,000 students at the university and its affiliated schools.

Tension mounted steadily throughout the night inside the building and outside, where supporters and opponents of the demonstrators milled about uneasily.

The threat of police action was announced early today by university officials.

When it came, at 2:34 a.m., with a swift penetration of Hamilton by police breaking through a barricaded tunnel and entering main doors, it was like a great release.

Rudd was arrested first, and led through a tunnel to a waiting police van. Eighty other male demonstrators, and 50 young women, moved out by the same route without incident.

A little after 4 a.m., Kirk requested police to "clear all campus academic buildings" and to empty the campus of all nondormitory students.

Associate Dean Alexander Platt climbed atop the sundial in the center of campus, where hundreds milled about, and used a bullhorn to make what he termed "a regretful and unhappy announcement" that police were preparing to enter the campus again.

The crowd booed. Platt urged demonstrators to return to their dormitory rooms or leave the campus. One young man jumped atop the sundial and seized his bullhorn. Others in the crowd soon returned it to him, but Platt left without further statement.

"To the barricades!" the students shouted.

Students had set up wooden police barriers at one campus gate at Amsterdam Avenue and 116th Street. The students surged toward the barricades. Helmed police were lined up opposite it, stretching across the entire width of the block. They were members of the elite, riot-trained Tactical Patrol Force.

Says Spock 'Delighted to Be Prosecuted'

BOSTON (AP) — The federal government's first witness says Dr. Benjamin Spock told FBI agents he would be "delighted" to be prosecuted for antidraft activities.

The 65-year-old pediatrician and four others are on trial in federal court for "unlawfully, knowingly and willfully" conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

On trial with Spock are Yale University Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student ate of Hope High School and, while at Southern State, has served as reporter of the Tri-C club and secretary of the Southern Swingers, and has been a member of the Association of Women Students.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hatfield of 1802 South Elm, Hope.

at Harvard; Mitchell Goodman, 44, of New York and Temple, Maine, and author and teacher; and Marcus Raskin, codirector of the Institute for Political Studies in Washington. If convicted, each man faces five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The first witness for the prosecution was Lawrence Miller, an FBI agent who attended an Oct. 2, 1967, news conference in New York, where the government contends Spock and several other defendants urged participation in a nationwide week of antidraft activities.

Miller testified Tuesday in the second day of the trial that he entered the news conference room unchallenged without identifying himself, took notes of what Spock and others said and collected pamphlets and literature passed around to newsmen.

The tall, blond agent testified under examination by John Wall, assistant U.S. attorney, that Spock said President Johnson was trying to "save face" by continuing the war in Vietnam.

THREE BEDROOM HOUSE

Three bedrooms, family-living room, kitchen-dining, living room, two baths and utility room all fit into this brick veneer house designed by the United States Department of Agriculture Cooperative Farm Buildings Plan Exchange. All of this living area has been arranged within a floor area of only 1,344 square feet. The plan also provides 308 square feet for a carport and 64 square feet of porch.

The "U"-shaped kitchen is on the front so that the housewife can observe the driveway and front part of the yard from the work area. There is ample space for the family eating area between the kitchen and the family living room.

The utility hall is located off the bedroom area. The location saves the homemaker many steps in performing household chores. It also saves in the plumbing costs since it is adjacent to the two bathrooms.

The outside door is convenient for a family entrance from the backyard as well as for use when hanging clothes outside.

The fireplace in the family-living room provided a flue for the heating unit which can be installed in the utility room. The utility room also contains an outdoor clothes-closet, cleaning closet, water heater, washer, freezer and sink. The wall storage cabinets occupy the two long partitions.

Complete working drawings of the plan No. 647708, may be obtained by contacting the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension Office. These drawings are free of charge.

Operation Hello Proves Successful

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Hello I'm Ted Otteson, and I'm white. Jim Wilson gave me your name, and I'm just calling to say hello."

The man on the other end of the line was a Negro. Kansas City was undergoing the worst racial disturbance in its history, and a friendly call from a white man he didn't even know was just about the last thing he had expected.

"Well, hello!" he finally managed to say. "It's nice to hear from you."

That was the beginning last month of Operation Hello—a practically spontaneous effort by whites and Negroes of Kansas City to break through an invisible barrier.

The objective: Help members of both races do something so simple and yet so difficult—just talk to each other.

The method: Conduct a sort of chain letter by telephone. People call members of another race, mention the name of a mutual acquaintance and exchange names of friends to call.

That's all there is to it. Otteson, a slim, 43-year old counselor with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, told how the idea came to him during racial troubles last month in which six Kansas City Negroes died and nearly $1 million in property was destroyed by fire.

"I just got to thinking there must be something ordinary people could do to keep this from happening again," The India-born son of missionary parents said softly.

Kansas City's shooting and burning ended in a few days, but Operation Hello is still snowballing along. Otteson said he has no idea how many people are involved, but already several hundred whites and Negroes have made thousands of calls.

RFK's Aides Urge Attack on McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's top advisers are urging him to attack Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as a stalking horse for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

This development represents a considerable turnaround in the three-way race for the Democratic presidential nomination. After McCarthy announced his candidacy last winter he was tagged by political detractors as a stalking horse for Kennedy.

It had been Kennedy's earlier hope that once he had chalked up victories over McCarthy in the primaries—as he did in Indiana and Nebraska and now expects to do in Oregon and California—the Minnesota senator would throw his support behind him at the Chicago convention.

Consequently he has taken pains to avoid any other than pin-prick attacks on McCarthy, but McCarthy has rejected Kennedy's repeated invitations to join forces with him against Johnson administration policies.

Kennedy strategists have surveyed the 164 delegates counted in McCarthy's "column" from New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and some other states. They have concluded a majority of them will turn to Kennedy when the chips are down.

They contend many of these delegates linked themselves to McCarthy when he offered the only alternative to President Johnson's re-election and remain more anti-Johnson than pro-McCarthy.

For all practical purposes the Kennedy lieutenants are counting McCarthy out of the running for the nomination.

They are convinced that when the final accounting comes, McCarthy will spurn Kennedy and turn to his old political associate Humphrey, despite differences with the vice president on Johnson policies.

McCarthy, campaigning in Oregon Tuesday, hinted he might end up supporting Humphrey but also said he is waiting to see whether the vice president changes his view of Vietnam war policy.

Humphrey, of course, has vigorously backed Johnson's war decisions.

Kennedy's advisers are telling the New York senator he ought to pound away on the campaign theme that a vote for McCarthy is really a vote for Humphrey.

This effort to pin a Humphrey label on McCarthy apparently would be calculated to provide a ready explanation for the Kennedy camp if their candidate fails to collect a majority of the Democratic vote in either the Oregon or California primaries. He could say that he was fighting two active candidates instead of the one on the ballot.

President Johnson's name remains on the Oregon ballot despite his withdrawal from contention. A former Johnson delegate state is running uncommitted in California. Humphrey has avoided giving this group his blessing.

school board, reported surprise seems to be the initial reaction of whites he has telephoned in Operation Hello.

"You get a slight silence at first," he said. "Then they become quite enthusiastic and eager to discuss things."

"People on both sides need reassuring that there are people concerned about their welfare. Whites are learning Negroes are just as worried about the violence going on as they are."

Tiresome Chant of the Political Prohibitionists

Of all the nonsense put upon the Arkansas public by free-wheeling politicians I think the charge by opposition legislators that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller had "a drink or two" before making his address to the special session of the General Assembly this week takes the cake.

No witness is more impeached on this score than a member of the General Assembly. Drinking is a tradition with the General Assembly. Back in 1925 I covered the state house briefly for Arkansas Gazette while on a leave of absence from the El Dorado Daily News and you could smell whisky even before you reached the entrance of the House of Representatives.

Remember: This was 1925, when national prohibition was still in effect.

The irony of pious legislators taking an illegal drink while enacting laws to govern the drinking of private citizens is doubled in spades by this week's charge from the House that the Governor took a legal drink!

I saw the television transcript of Gov. Rockefeller's address, and what came over their airwaves was forcible, clear, and literate. His accusers stand convicted of political fraud and abuse.

It stands in the public record that when one of the world's most honored statesmen, the late Winston Churchill, was invited to address the Congress of the United States, he took two stiff shots of bourbon, mounted the rostrum—and knocked 'em dead.

Winthrop Rockefeller is no Churchill, but he's entitled to the same respect and fair play that we accord a foreigner—and it's about time the top-water politicians of the Arkansas General Assembly were so reminded.

Policeman Takes Case to Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police Maj. Kenneth McKee, recently replaced as commander of the Highway Patrol, planned to take his case before the State Police Commission today.

State Police Director Ralph Scott has not said what action he plans to recommend to the commission, and McKee said he had not discussed the matter with Scott.

McKee was relieved of his position when he was placed on sick leave by Scott last week.

McKee visited the governor's office Wednesday, but he said he did not come to talk with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

McKee said, "No comment," when he was asked about a neurological examination he underwent in New York at Rockefeller's expense.

Asked about a report that he was arrested in Missouri for driving while intoxicated, McKee said, "I was arrested and I was guilty of careless and imprudent driving."

$50,000 Policy to King Estate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An attorney for the family of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says a $50,000 life insurance policy has been added to the estate of the slain civil rights leader.

Attorney Chauncey Eskridge of Chicago said the policy was maintained by one of King's longtime friends, singer Harry Belafonte.

Earlier, the attorney had reported that King's estate was too small to warrant filing probate papers.

There was no will but the estate was reported at $5,000 in joint bank accounts and a mortgage insurance policy which he paid for his home plus royalties from four books.

DeGaulle to Act Against Strikers

By HARVEY HUDSON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle called in his Cabinet today to plan moves to combat the massive strikes strangling France. Meanwhile, the Ascension Day religious holiday shut down most of the small stores and factories that had not been struck.

Paris had a deserted air as the Cabinet ministers drove up to the Elysee Palace. It was like a Sunday except that fewer cars than normal were out because of gasoline shortages and the taxi strike.

Army trucks which have been used for emergency transportation took the day off.

Over the nation, it was the same story. Restaurants, movie houses and food shops—many of them largely depleted of staples—were about the only businesses open.

The Cabinet meeting was expected to be the last for several ministers. A Cabinet reshuffled is believed in the offing.

A few cracks developed in the strike front, but the number on strike was still estimated at 8 million, half the nation's work force. And rebellious students took to the streets of Paris again throughout the night.

Workers were reported going back to their jobs in some small companies outside the Paris area. Trade union leaders responded favorably to Premier Georges Pompidou's offer to open negotiations on wage increases and other benefits. But leaders of the three major trade union federations came up with a broad list of demands that would boost the nation's wage costs by many millions of dollars.

And it will take far more than a few thousand returning workers to end the paralysis in postal delivery, transport, business and industrial life, and the growing shortages of food, cash and gasoline.

Pompidou succeeded in rallying enough support in the National Assembly Wednesday night to defeat a motion of censure which would have forced him out of office and would have been a severe blow to President Charles de Gaulle's already weakened prestige.

But as the vote was being counted, several thousand students marched on the assembly to protest the government's ban on the return to France of the radical student leader Daniel "Danny the Red" Cohn-Bendit, who had gone to Amsterdam to talk to Dutch students.

Several hundred demonstrators during the night attacked the senate building in the Latin Quarter, breaking windows with rocks and receiving an answering volley of tear gas grenades.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are James H. Pilkinton and Norman Smith; for the defendants, Albert Graves and Victor H. Hlinka.

Thomas Wray and wife were awarded a $35,000 judgment by a jury against the Arkansas Highway Department. The case involved right-of-way property on Interstate 30.

Another right-of-way case involved Arkansas Power and Light Co. vs. F.A. and Gladys Barham. A jury awarded judgment of $42,85 to each of seven heirs to the land involved.

Celler, since he would chair any conference committee named to hammer out a Senate-House compromise, Celler's opposition could be an important factor in House action.

In an effort to speed action on the over-all bill, the Senate agreed to limit debate on proposed wiretap section amendments to 30 minutes for each speaker.

The measure would permit police—federal, state and local—to engage in wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping under court orders while investigating major crimes.

But it sets penalties of up to five years' imprisonment and fines of $10,000 for unauthorized eavesdropping and for the manufacture, advertising and transportation in interstate commerce of equipment for such practices.

President Johnson has urged Congress to outlaw all wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping except in cases relating to national security.

The bill would let federal and state judges grant police applications for wiretapping and

These votes kept in the measure provisions—added by the Senate to the House-passed bill—that would undo controversial high-court decisions on the admissibility of confessions and eyewitness testimony.

The court's decisions have greatly broadened the rights of criminal defendants.

"I would not accept those provisions . . . which would rob the Supreme Court of power," said

Draft Dodger Seized, Police Fight Off More Antiwar Demonstrators

By DAVE NYHAN
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. marshals seized a convicted draft evader in a church Wednesday touching off an hour-long dispute which ended with police beating back antidraft demonstrators.

Robert A. Talmanson, 21, of Boston, was carried from the altar of the Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church to a rear door where some 200 youthful protesters sang and shouted, "Hell no, Tally, you won't go!"

Marshals carried him to a car waiting in a parking lot nearby, but the demonstrators rushed past police and surrounded the vehicle, which was immobilized for a half-hour by demonstrators lying on its roof and in its path.

Police reinforcements sent a flying wedge to drag Talmanson to a waiting police van which sped away. The move touched off a series of fist fights in which demonstrators were hurled to the ground and at least 15 were taken into custody. They later were released.

U.S. Atty. Paul S. Markham, who was in charge at the scene, said Talmanson was picked up in the afternoon instead of the quieter night hours because "it would be a sorry state if the United States government had to sneak around in the nighttime to enforce the law," The Rev. John Harmon of Boston, an Episcopal minister, had his clerical collar ripped from his throat in a scuffle. He was one of several clergymen at the scene.

Left inside the church was Army Spec. 4 William Chase, 19, of Dennis, a Vietnam veteran who the Army said is absent without leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash. The marshals ignored Chase, since there is no federal civilian charge against him.

Chase and Talmanson spent two nights in the church with members of The Resistance, an antidraft group, which claimed sanctuary for the pair.

The administration's major bills were tossed to the legislature Wednesday as the General Assembly continued honing its teeth with criticism of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The administration's bill to increase the cigarette tax by 3 cents was introduced in the Arkansas House and the mixed drink bill was introduced in the Arkansas Senate.

The cigarette tax bill was introduced by Reps. B.D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock, Charles Davis of Springdale and James L. Sheets of Siloam Springs.

The bill would raise the tax on cigarettes from 8 to 11 cents per package.

Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, saying the governor didn't ask him to do it, introduced the mixed drink bill.

Hurst said his constituents in Garland County wanted the bill and that he acted after it became apparent that Rockefeller was not going to be able to find another sponsor.

"I introduced a bill like this long before the governor was ever heard of in Arkansas," Hurst said. "It's in line with the thinking of the people of Garland County."

Hurst predicted a close vote

No Progress in Peace Conference

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman predicted today that the deadlock in the Vietnam peace talks will break some day and that the North Vietnamese will make the concessions.

"This sort of thing can't go on forever," Harriman told newsmen as he left his hotel for the U.S. Embassy. "The North Vietnamese are going to have to face up to realities sooner or later."

The chief U.S. negotiator said he did not take seriously North Vietnamese envoy Xuan Thuy's statement Wednesday that the U.S. government "must bear the full and entire responsibility" if the talks do not produce results.

This was interpreted by some observers as a threat to break up the conference if the United States did not come around to Hanoi's position.

With the conference in recess until Monday, Harriman said he would spend the time until then looking into various aspects of the conference and expected to have some new ideas to talk about by Monday.

Harriman and Thuy now have met four times in the past 10 days, and each time they have come away standing rigidly on their original positions.

U.S. spokesmen have called the North Vietnamese "stubborn." The Vietnamese called the Americans "obstinate."

The stumbling block is always the same—North Vietnamese insistence on an unconditional end to U.S. bombing of their country and U.S. insistence that "reciprocal restraint" on Hanoi's part must accompany a halt in the bombing.

"The talks are frozen," said one neutral diplomat after Wednesday's three-hour meeting.

At that meeting Thuy rejected Harriman's proposal that both delegations stop making their conference statements public.

549 Killed in War Last Week, Almost as Many as Previous Week

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans reported killed last week was the second largest weekly toll of the Vietnam war.

The U.S. Command announced today that 549 Americans died in action, 13 less than the record 562 killed the previous week.

The command said 2,282 Americans were wounded in action last week, 37 more than the week before. Of those wounded last week, 1,314 required hospitalization, the command said.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 475 government troops killed last week, 1,476 wounded and 71 missing or captured. The week before the report was 675 killed, 1,999 wounded and 96 missing.

The two commands said 4,765 of the enemy were killed last week. The U.S. Command also revised its report of enemy killed the week before, raising it from 5,552 to 8,186. Although not a record, this was among the heaviest tolls of the war.

The U.S. Command said the report raised the total American combat casualties in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 23,500 killed and 143,676 wounded, with 74,582 of the latter requiring hospitalization.

A total of 1,211 Americans are missing, or captured, the report said.

The summary said enemy casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, are at least 350,074 killed.

Columbia Planning to Get Tough

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University, says his administration will employ "all measures necessary to restore peace" to the scarred and strife-torn campus beset by rebellious students.

Kirk said at a news conference Wednesday "that if disciplinary probation, suspension or even permanent expulsion must be dealt to any number of students, this action will be taken."

He spoke after the second early morning campus police raid within a month had climaxed in a violent clash that left 56 persons—including 16 policemen—injured. Police said 178 persons were arraigned.

The crippling protests at the 25,000-student Ivy League university have resulted in 998 arrests and more than 200 injuries since they began April 23. The school suspended evening classes Wednesday and closed all campus buildings.

Mark Rudd, a student leader of the protests, told an evening rally called by the student strike committee that the strikers were giving the administration "one more chance."

U.S. Losing More Planes Than Ever

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — American pilots are flying more missions against North Vietnam and losing more planes than they did before President Johnson put the major part of the country off limits to them, statistics from the U.S. Command showed today.

The command announced today that North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire brought down two more planes Wednesday, and the three crewmen are all missing.

U.S. troops losses also continued high, with 549 Americans reported killed in combat last week. It was the second highest weekly toll of the war for American troops.

The South Vietnamese government reported 475 of its troops killed last week, while the allied estimate of enemy killed was 4,765.

The two planes were lost Wednesday as American fliers logged 135 missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, the highest number flown this month. The U.S. Command said the three crewmen were missing.

Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese gunners downed four planes Wednesday and captured all the pilots. It also charged that the United States is continuing "to conduct barbarous raids" on North Vietnam while W. Averell Harriman, the U.S. representative at the Paris peace talks, "claims the U.S. is ready to 'de-escalate' the war."

The loss of the two planes raised the total reported lost in combat in the North to 10 in May and 841 since the start of the air war more than three years ago. One of the planes lost Wednesday was a Navy photo-reconnaissance RF8 Crusader, the other an Air Force F4 Phantom.

In February nine American warplanes were announced lost over the North. In March the number went to 11. During April, the first month Johnson's curtailment order was in effect, 16 U.S. planes were reported shot down.

The increase in losses was matched by an increase in the number of missions flown.

During March, while the northeast monsoons were still producing heavy cloud cover and rain, 2,648 missions were flown over the whole of North Vietnam.

The monsoons began in April, and although pilots then were limited to bombing North Vietnam's narrow southern panhandle below the 19th parallel, 3,412 missions were logged. So far in May pilots have flown 2,645 missions, and the final figure may top April's total.

Presbyterians to Hear a Guest Speaker

The guest minister at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning will be the Rev. Harry A. Osborne, Associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hot Springs. His sermon subject will be "A Rose Is Not Enough."

The minister for Sunday, June 2, will be James H. Hardin, lay minister of the local congregation, who will be leaving the next day for a vacation in his native state of Florida. From Florida, Mrs. Hardin will fly to Scotland to visit her mother and other relatives with Mr. Hardin returning to Hope in about three weeks.

Arthur Wimmell, chairman of the pulpit supply committee for the local church, announces that a young Texarkana minister will fill the pulpit on Sunday, June 9. He is the Rev. Troy C. Jarvis, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Texarkana, Ark.

Revival at Bell's Chapel

Revival services begin May 26 at Bell's Chapel Church of NAAs and will continue through June 2. The Rev. Jim Coe of Little Rock will speak each night at 7:30 o'clock. There will be special music at every service.

Child Trying to Write With Feet

By OTTO DOELLING
Associated Press Writer
AACHEN, Germany (AP) — Bettina is 7 years old and is learning to write—with her feet. She was born without arms.

At another desk at a special school in Hamburg, her classmate Martina draws a picture of trees and people who have healthy limbs. She carefully guides the pencil with one of her own deformed hands. When the recess bell rings, Martina's stunted legs prevent her from running to join the other children at play.

There are about 6,500 Bettinas and Martinas in 20 countries, from Austria to the Philippines. More than 2,000 live in West Germany.

Why they were born with malformed limbs will be the central issue of a criminal trial opening before the Aachen State Court Monday.

The prosecution contends the malformations were not accidents of nature but the result of human negligence.
Nine officials and scientists of Chemie Grunenthal, a West German pharmaceutical company, are charged with negligent manslaughter and inflicting bodily injuries in what some medical authorities have termed the "thalidomide catastrophe."

Hermann Wirtz, 71, president and chief stockholder of the family owned company, underwent surgery this month and is not expected to be tried with the other eight. The prosecutor's office said Wirtz probably would

In 1957-61 the company developed and sold thalidomide, a soothing and sleep-inducing drug. The drug was withdrawn from the market after Dr. W. Duking Lenz, a pediatrician, reported a possible link between it and a wave of infants born with malformed limbs. The drug also was blamed for the deaths of some malformed infants soon after their births.

The mothers reportedly had taken thalidomide in the early stages of pregnancy.

Soon after the Lenz report, the first of what eventually added up to about 300 criminal complaints was filed by one of the parents of these children at the office of the Aachen chief prosecutor, Heinrich Gierlich.
Five years of investigation led to a 972-page indictment taken from 60,000 pages of evidence.

The trial is expected to last at least two years. It promises to be involved, Gierlich said in announcing the indictment last year: "In nature and size this case is without precedent. It is of immense consequence for all concerned."

The defendants face maximum sentences of five years imprisonment, and a decision against them would open the way for parents' civil damage claims, possibly totaling $25 million.

The 300 plaintiffs include a number from abroad. The drug is known to have been manufactured in England, Sweden, Israel, Brazil and Japan and was marketed in a number of other countries. At the peak of its popularity Grunenthal produced up to one million pills a day in West Germany.

A few malformed infants also were born in the United States, where a Federal Drug administrator, Dr. Frances Kelsey blocked sale of the drug. The mothers there reportedly were wives of U.S. servicemen who had been stationed in West Germany or women who had received the drug from abroad.

McCarthy Says Foes Have No Freedom

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy—linking both his Democratic presidential rivals to "disastrous adventures" in foreign policy—says he has freedom they don't promise no more Vietnam-like involvements.
"Sen. (Robert F.) Kennedy," McCarthy said in San Francisco Wednesday, "played a prominent role in formulating policies which resulted in disastrous adventures."

"If he were to proceed as he evidently has proceeded, or what he has supported, in the past, we might have further involvements like Vietnam," McCarthy said.
The Minnesota senator accused Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of defending every assumption which produced the Vietnam war.

"At the same time when American foreign policy grew most disastrous," McCarthy said, "Vice President Humphrey became its most ardent apologist."

Kennedy also has called for "no more Vietnams." Humphrey has said that while America seeks peace, it cannot promise that Communist aggression will not be opposed.

On the Republican side, meanwhile, there was a prediction California Gov. Ronald Reagan could become an active GOP presidential candidate after Oregon's primary Tuesday, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller pressed his quest for convention delegates in the South.

Reagan will be propelled as an active—even though unannounced—GOP candidate if his Oregon showing tops the 22 percent vote he got in the Nebraska primary, predicted Henry Bubb, national head of a citizens committee for Reagan.

"I think he will come out Friday," said Bubb, of Topeka, Kan., "if he has a good showing in this primary."

Reagan said in Cleveland Wednesday that all the Kennedy-Johnson-Humphrey administration has to show for increased defense spending "is the longest and first wholly inconclusive war in the history of the United States and a political airplane (the TFX) that won't fly."

Rockefeller, who sought national convention delegate support in Louisiana and Florida earlier in the week, was seeking it today in West Virginia.

"The South is not frozen," he said in Charleston, W. Va. His schedule takes him to Atlanta and Columbia, S.C., in the next two days.

Kennedy, campaigning in Oregon, challenged Humphrey to take his presidential bid to the people, through the primaries.
"I'm taking my campaign to the people," Kennedy said, "I think that's what a candidate should do."

Humphrey, who joined the campaign too late to enter primaries, has been concentrating on convention delegates.

In a jet-age campaigning first, he flew 162 Delaware delegates, Democratic officials and wives to Washington Wednesday night for a "thank you" party. Humphrey has won 16 of Delaware's 22 convention votes.

Humphrey aides said such trips likely will be repeated and one commented: "If we did this for every state in the union, it would still be cheaper than what Bobby spent in the Indiana primary."

In another Humphrey campaign development, sources in Washington say the reason John A. Gronouski resigned as ambassador to Poland is that he plans to join Humphrey's presidential effort.

All Gronouski would say in Warsaw was that "I feel what lies ahead is important." Asked what that is, he replied: "This will be revealed in due course."

She's Willing Court Wasn't

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Doris Caldwell offered to have her husband report for jury duty, as ordered by the court, if Geary County would make arrangements and pay the usual transportation allowance. But the district court clerk refused.

Mrs. Caldwell's husband, Sgt. Howard G. Caldwell, is serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Miss Evans is a 1964 graduate of Hope High School and, while at Southern State, has served as secretary of the concert choir, secretary of the DaCapo club, and has been a member of the Women's Recreation Association and the Baptist Student Union.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Evans of Rt. 4, Hope.

Backlash in Bermuda Sees White Victory

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer
HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda's pro-British white party drew wide backing from the resort island's Negro majority and rode an apparent backlash against rioting last month to a 3 to 1 victory today in the colony's first one-man, one-vote election.

The conservative United Bermuda party took 30 of the 40 seats in the House of Assembly while the Negro Progressive Labor party won only 10. The Labor party had promised to cut the colony's 359-year-old ties with Britain.

The Bermuda Democratic party, also largely Negro, was blanked.

The United party's victory had been expected, but its proportions were a surprise. The white-dominated party asserted Negro mobs who rioted April 25-26 were incited at least in part by the Labor party.

No violence or even minor incidents were reported during the balloting Wednesday. The British frigate Leopard was anchored offshore, however, as a precaution.

Walter Robinson, the Labor party leader who said his forces would win 26 seats and have the British out in "six months to a year," lost in his district.

Whites took 26 of the 40 seats, although about 55 percent of the 20,918 eligible voters were Negroes. The United party ran 13 Negro candidates, and seven of them were elected.

Many of the Negroes were voting for the first time, due to reduction of the age requirement from 25 to 21. The whites also lost an advantage with the removal of property qualifications that had given some property owners two votes in previous elections.

Sir Henry Tucker, a wealthy banker who leads the United party, will become the chief minister in charge of the government.

Under a new constitution, the parliament and the executive council it names will run island affairs. Only foreign relations,

U.S. Davis Cup Team in Final Round

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Davis Cup team goes into the North American zone final round Friday armed with a big serve and power volley against a physically small Mexican quartet relying on speed, defense and finesse.

The host squad could win 5-0 if it gets off to a 2-0 start in Friday's singles matches or it could be pressed to pull out a 3-2 verdict if the Mexicans can salvage a 1-1 draw for openers. The lone doubles match will be played Saturday; the final two singles on Sunday.

Few concede the Mexicans a chance to beat the fied-up Americans, featuring Arthur Ashe, Stan Smith and Bob Lutz. The U.S. squad, including Clark Graebner, eligible to play, and Charles Pasarell, not named, is defense and internal security will continue under the resident governor chosen by the British government.

Tucker had stressed in his campaign that victory for the Labor party would drive away American tourists and investors who are the major source of income on the island 680 miles southeast of New York. He said the Laborites had "Soviet friends."

In the Jacoby method, a two diamond response to an opening one no-trump is a transfer to hearts. Two hearts a transfer to spades. This leaves the two spade response free for something else and we use it to show a minor two suiter of indefinite strength. The opener rebids to two no-trump with at least one and a half stoppers in each major suit. Otherwise he rebids three clubs with clubs as good or better than diamonds and three diamonds with better diamonds than clubs.

If responder has a good hand he goes past three diamonds. If he has a poor hand he passes a three club or diamond rebid and bids three of his better minor if the rebid were two no-trump. In all those cases the final contract will be a three of a minor.

Today's North hand is perfect for the best response. North does not want to let South play at one no-trump. It would be nice if North could get to play at two of a minor but East and West can make at least three spades and West would surely try a two spade bid if North merely responded with a minor suit sign off at the two level.

South isn't at all happy when North drops him at three clubs. That is, until he sees the dummy. Then he sees that he is in a fine contract and should make it after the heart lead.

Assuming that East takes his ace of hearts and continues the suit, South wins with his king and plays ace and one diamond. West wins and forces dummy whereupon South should lead a trump toward his hand. If East ducks South wins the trick and continues trumps. Eventually he sets up dummy's last two diamonds and winds up losing two diamonds, one heart and one club.

MARGUERITE SMITH JOHNSON

Mrs. Marguerite Smith Johnson, a long time teacher in local schools, is retiring after 44 years of teaching. She began her career as a teacher when in her "teens". Her first school was known as "Brown's School"
a one-room building with grades 1-8. The next year the school was replaced by a two-room
Rosenwald building, where St.
Mark Church now stands. This building was later moved to Upchurch School and was used as a shop which was destroyed by fire. She was therefore responsible for the second Ros-enwald building in the county.
She graduated from Shorter College High School and began her teaching career. She received her college training during the summer months and received a B.S. Degree, graduating with honors at A.M. & N.
College in 1954.

She taught many years in the rural areas. Two years in Independence County, Batesville,
Ark., the home of her husband,
Reuben Johnson.

The remainder of the time,
she has taught at McRae Elementary School in Prescott.

During the strenuous years, when more class rooms were needed she worked ardently with the P.T.A. in helping to raise $2,000 which was to be matched by the school board. Later a gymnasium was built and the two class rooms were added.
She was a conscientious and dedicated teacher. One who has inspired many boys and girls to pursue a higher education.
Many of whom have made good citizens and are now holding prominent positions.

She has longed to see the boys and girls of McRae housed in a modern, well-equipped building. This dream was fully realized, for now a modern well-equipped Elementary building now stands as a beacon light guiding the foot-steps of those who wish to follow the paths to knowledge which is mankind's greatest asset.

Mrs. Johnson offered these words of poetry as a parting thought:

Do not live to make a living,
Rather live to make a life,
or the measure of succeeding
All you ever leave behind you,
When your soul has crossed
the bay,
Is the good you've done for others
As you tarried by the way.

Flame Guts a Fire Station

NEW YORK (AP) — A gasoline explosion sent flames through all three floors of the Bronx building but firemen reacted quickly and kept damage to a minimum. It was the home of Engine Co. 94.
